

Activities for kids in Hanoi Vietnam

In Hanoi, your kids can enjoy many activities around the city as play at water park, go to the zoo... Today www.dulichso.com will introduce to you the best activities for your children when you have trips to Vietnam.

Play at Ho Tay Waterpark

We defy any child visiting Hanoi - and plenty of adults, for that matter - not to enjoy the slides, zipwires, wave pool and high dive boards of the waterpark on Ho Tay lake, all backed by the amazing skyline of Hanoi.

- Location: Tay Ho district
- Best for: Family, Children
- Entrance: 20,000 - 80,000 VND
- Hours: 8:00-19:00

Thu Le zoo

Located in a small village near Hanoi, Thu Le Park and Zoo is one of the favorite green areas in Hanoi, away from the buzz and the pollution of the big city. Visitors can see here rare species of birds, monkeys, cats and elephants, as well as some species specific to the Vietnam area. The park also has a lovely collection of trees and flowers. Ride a Merry-Go-Round

- Location: Nguyen Van Ngoc, Ba Dinh, Hanoi
- Phone: + 84 24 834 7395
- Open Hours: 06.00-18.00

Lenin Park

Lenin Park is a park in Hanoi which must-visit for anyone who wants to see the city at leisure. While adults marvel at mass aerobics classes, kids can ride merry-go-rounds, buy balloons, ride the lake in giant transparent balls, and enjoy a rare sense of space in this crowded city.

- Location: Ba Dinh district, HaNoi
- Directions: across the street from the mig parked outside the army museum. There's a big statue of Lenin

Explore the Museum of Ethnography

With traditional tribal houses you can climb inside, not to mention traditional balancing games and seesaw games, plus free water puppet shows on weekends, plus ice cream, we loved this open-air museum. There are many hotels in Hanoi near the Museum of Ethnology, but it's a fair schlep out of town.

- Address: Nguyen Van Huyen Road, Cau Giay District, Hanoi, Vietnam
- Phone: Tel: (84-24) 37 56 21 93
- Opening hours is 8:30am to 5:30pm Tuesday to Sunday

Eat Hot Pot

Making your own soup is fun. And the narrow alley of Cam Chi majors on hot pot. A bubbling pot of steaming broth comes to your table. Then you add your choice of meats, seafood, veggies and noodles to the mix, and fish them out when they're done. The pot is bottomless and the broth gets richer by the second.

- Location: 246 Buoï street, Tay Ho district
- Ngoc Hang restaurants, Cau Giay district (400000VND/4 persons)
- Guang, 269 Kim Ma street, Ba Dinh district, Ha Noi

- 52 Tran Nhan Tong, Hoan Kiem district (Chicken hot pot - 400 000 VND/5 person)

Go to the Circus

Not one for the animal rights activist, the circus in the big permanent tent in Lenin Park still delivers excellent fun, firmly in the Russian tradition of circus. Sunday morning performances are targeted at children

Visit the Temple of Literature

As a pocket introduction to Vietnamese culture and heritage, the medieval Temple of Literature is fantastic. And kids can feed the fish and turtles in their tranquil ponds as well. Stay at a hotel near the Temple of Literature and you'll get to watch the park spring to life in the morning, with everything from calisthenics to badminton.

- Address: Temple of Literature, Van Mieu, Dong Da district, Hanoi, Vietnam
- Open Hours: 06.00-21.00
